About the Project: This 1938 traditional Minneapolis home on the border of Edina, was extremely well kept and had charming historical details. Although the kitchen, breakfast and sitting rooms had very good correlation, they needed "spicing up". Bringing in the architectural details throughout the home was vital in enhancing this project, & one of the driving factors was to replace the old appliances with new stainless steel that were both wider & taller. We modified existing cabinetry, & created custom doors, drawers, & panels to seamlessly match. Without changing the countertops, hardwood flooring, or plumbing fixtures, all the other seemingly minor changes described herein served to mold the sitting, breakfast and kitchen into welcoming, timeless and an engaging space.
